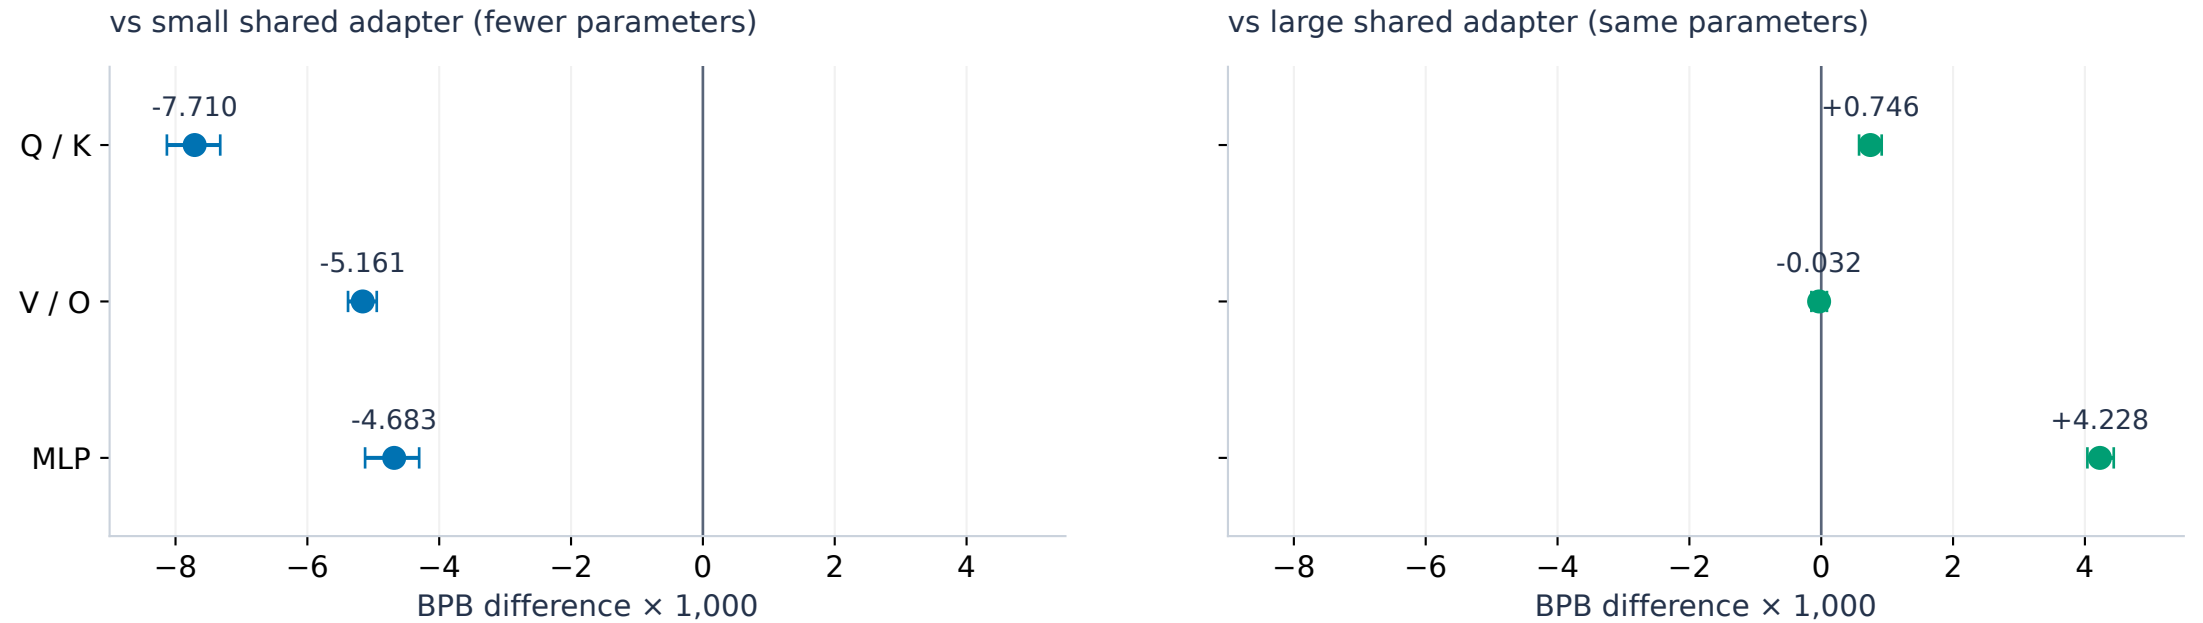
Does giving each loop its own adapter improve held-out quality?

Independent BPB minus shared BPB: left of zero favors independent.



Whiskers: paired-sequence 95% intervals; unadjusted, one seed. They do not measure run-to-run variability.
Same-parameter shared adapters use more adapter compute. Neither panel establishes a matched-total-FLOPs result.